

David Tidsall, CTA(P), PTSTA(P)

David Tidsall is a Certified Transactional Analyst (Psychotherapy) CTA(P) and a Provisional Teaching and Supervising Transactional Analyst (Psychotherapy) PTSTA(P) in full-time private practice in High Wycombe as psychotherapist counsellor supervisor and executive coach. David has over Eleven years experience and is both BACP and UKCP accredited.

In his practice he works with clients on short medium and long term basis using Transactional Analysis (TA) from a relational perspective over a wide range of issues. He works with individuals, couples, and in-group therapy marathons. David also undertakes executive coaching and group facilitation assignments in organisations, using TA as his model for thinking and understanding individuals and their working groups.

In conjunction with colleagues has actively developed and leads a TA psychotherapy training programme in Oxford at TAworks and provides individual and group supervision in Oxford and High Wycombe.

David is passionate about TA and how we may use its concepts and philosophy to realise our creative potential in how we live our lives and to enjoy fulfilling relationships. He takes an active part in the TA, wider counselling and psychotherapeutic community.
